

Our Methodology

The heart of any good organization is its people, and technology should serve those people. We work differently from any other IT company because we take a holistic and sequential approach with our clients. We believe that a successful and sustainable business is built upon many things, and effective technology lies at the foundation. Our proprietary MMIP methodology ensures that your solutions address what YOU need from your technology while adhering to industry best practices for security, reliability, and speed.

MAINTAIN

Flip the switch from reactive to proactive. We ensure all the wheels are round and the holes are plugged.

MANAGE

The foundation is solid. Now there is less to fix and more to grow. We are an extension of your business.

IMPROVE

With our strategy, you can create a space to capture innovative ideas and improvement process.

PROMOTE

Define what you do, whom you do it for, and why they should work with you. Then, go get your fans.

This Client Said It Best

One of our clients said it best when he called us his network's personal trainer / nutritionist. We asked what he meant by that. He said his business's old technology team wasn't showing the desired results. He said it was like paying for a gym membership that wasn't doing much for anyone, except for the gym that was receiving a nice monthly payment. He said he wanted his business to grow. He wanted ideas, accountability, transparency, control, and results. So, he graduated from a tired, non-productive gym membership (old tech company) to a great personal trainer and nutritionist (Remote Techs).

Why Remote Techs?

It goes back to why we started this business and why we love working with our clients every day.

We are passionate about growing our business, and we find the best way to do this is by helping our clients grow theirs.

Our MMIP process enables us to guide our clients down a natural path where they see their business flourish, as their power and efficiencies unfold through technology.

If you'd like to learn more then we'd like to sit down with you for a discussion and see if there is a fit.
